* Premiums are received half-yearly, quarterly, or monthly if preferred, in the proportion of one-half, one-fourth, one-twelfth of the above rates. A portion may remain on credit at 6 per cent. interest if desired. In the case of military men, a trifling extra paid continuously covers the risk of active service in any part of the world. Assurances can be effected at rather higher rates with participation in the profits (ascertained quinquennially). Illustrations of Bonuses realized on Policies of this class may be obtained on application. The English rate of Premium applies from date of departure homewards from Port Said and during residence within European limits. The security obtained by Policy-holders in the "Commercial Union" is unsurpassed. Prospectuses, forms of proposal, copies of last report and Balance Sheet procurable from any of the Company's Agents, or on application to Manager.

GELAT[illegible] GELIGNITE, AND [illegible]

Manufactured under the Supervision of the

BRITISH GOVERNMENT

BY

NOBEL'S EXPLOSIVES Co., L[illegible]

HEAD OFFICE: 149, WEST GEORGE ST., GLASGOW.

The Company's Agents in India have in stock and are prepared to [illegible] No. 1 Blasting Gelatine, No. 1 Dynamite, Gelignite, Detonators, Patent Safety [illegible] Fuses, Electric Fuses, Electric Machines, Batteries, Cables, Iridio-Plantinum Wire, Cha[illegible]t ton's Compound, India Rubber Solution, &c, &c.

NOTE:—Blasting Gelatine is a new Explosive Compound devised and patented by Alfred Nobel, consisti[illegible] 53 per cent. of Nitro-Glycerine and 7 per cent. of Soluble Gun-cotton. It is insoluble and unaffected by wa[illegible] 90 per cent. more powerful, and is far more inert to explosion by violent shocks than Dynamite. It is unaffect[illegible] climatic changes, and is the safest and strongest commercial explosive in the world.

Nobel's Blasting Gelatine.—The most powerful and most perfect explo[illegible] ever invented. Vide Sir Frederic A. Abel's Science Lectures.

NOBEL'S GELIGNITE

A SUBSTITUTE FOR DYNAMITE.

Composition.—Gelignite is an explosive compound consisting of Nitro[illegible] cerine and Nitro-Cellulose, with a certain proportion of Nitrate of Potash and Wood [illegible] or in other words, it is another form of Gelatine-Dynamite.

Characteristics.—Gelignite, like all Gelatinous Explosives, is a Plastic [illegible] pound, which, on being tamped, will fit accurately and easily into any borehole, [illegible] entirely preventing the formation of an air-chamber, which, in the case of Dynamite other rigid Compounds, may reduce the explosive force by fully 10 per cent. Gelign is practically unaffected by immersion in water, which is a well-known characteristic of Nobel's Gelatinous Explosives. The Specific Gravity of Gelignite is similar to tha Dynamite, and when detonated by Nobel's Gelatine Detonators, which are required develop its full energy, it will be found to be entirely free from Noxious Fumes. It is n insensible to shock than Dynamite:—

Advantages of Gelignite over Dynamite and other rigid Explosives:—

It is offered at the same price as Dynamite; hence it is relatively cheaper.

Its Plasticity in the borehole affords a distinct Economy over all rigid Bl[illegible] ing Agents, whilst its Explosive Energy is Greater than Dynamit by fully 12 per cent.

JOHN BLAKE'S PATENT SELF-ACTING HYDRAULIC RAMS

FOR RAISING WATER

For the Supply of Towns, Villages, Irrigation, Railway Stations, Mansions, Fountains, Farms, &c.

No cost of Motive Power, which is obtained from a Stream of Water passing through the Ram. No Oiling or Packing required.

MADE IN SIZES TO RAISE FROM 300 TO 400,000 GALLONS PER DAY. WILL FORCE TO A HEIGHT OF 800FT.

☞ Estimates will be given on receipt of the following particulars:—

This View represents Fig. A, Ram forcing up a part of the same water that works it, which is supplied from a spring. Special Rams of A make can be supplied to force to a height of 800 feet.

1st.—The fall (in feet or inches) which can be obtained from the stream, spring, lake, or other source of supply.
2nd.—The height to which the water is to be forced above the Ram.
3rd.—The distance to which the water is to be forced.
4th.—The approximate quantity of water (in pints or gallons) falling per minute.
5th.—The number of gallons required to be raised per day of 24 hours.
6th.—The distance in which the working fall is obtained.
7th.—If a "B" Ram be required, the depth and horizontal distance from the Ram to the clean water should be stated, unless the clean water will gravitate to the level of the Ram.

BLAKE'S HYDRAULIC RAMS have been supplied to the following among others:—

WATER SUPPLY!!

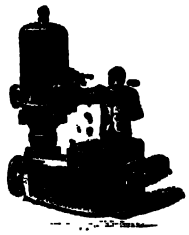

FIG. A.—This Ram lifts part of the same water that works it. (Engraved from photo of Ram which raises 250,000 gallons per day of 24 hours to a medium heights, with good working fall.)

This View represents a Ram worked by impure river water, whilst pumping pure water from a well or spring and forcing it to a small reservoir on the hill, at an elevation of 532 feet and a distance of one mile, from which reservoir the water is gravitated for fire-extinguishing and general requirements of mansion, stables, farm, and village.

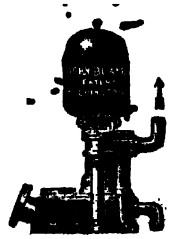

FIG. B.—This Ram, whilst worked by a stream of impure water, will pump clean water from a well or spring.

TESTIMONIALS FOR

JOHN BLAKE'S PATENT SELF-ACTING HYDRAULIC RAMS

From EDWARD KNOX, Esq., Estate Office, Margam Park, Port Talbot, South Wales, July 2nd, 1896.

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in stating that the Ram you supplied to Miss Talbot, of Margam Park, last September, has been working ever since most satisfactorily, and so far, there has never been a stoppage. I am more particularly pleased as we have had two Rams previously FROM TWO OTHER MAKERS, NEITHER OR WHICH GAVE SATISFACTION, and although the price for your Ram was considerably higher than the other Rams which we tried, the result promises to prove that YOUR RAM WILL BE THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. I have on the strength of the success of your Ram recommended one of Miss Talbot's tenants to purchase a similar one, and I believe he will probably do so. [This Ram raises over 9,000 gallons per day to a height of 138 feet.]

From A. FIDLER, Esq., Assoc.M.Inst.C.E., Engineer to the Corporation of Blackburn. Municipal Offices, Blackburn, July 2nd, 1896.

DEAR SIR,—After having had the New Hydraulic Rams at Guide working without intermission for over six months, I am now able to give you the results of the test. A pair of your Rams which we fixed in 1886 to force 16,000 gallons of water per day for the supply of the district of Guide, above our highest reservoir, pumped up much more than that quantity, and worked well until six months ago, when the consumption of water in the district having largely increased, they were superseded by a pair of your latest Patent Rams to raise 50,000 gallons per day. From a test I have recently made, I find their maximum lifting power exceeds 84,000 GALLONS PER DAY, forced though 1,295 yards of delivery pipe, against a head of 190 feet (including pipe friction). From another test made I found that both Rams supplied with 327,816 gallons per day, with a working fall of 32 feet 3 inches, pumped 47,188 gallons per day to a height of 175 feet (including pipe friction), giving 78 PER CENT. OF EFFICIENCY. The New Rams have worked well and continuously, and having no METALLIC CLACKS OR VALVES, their action is smooth and without shock. They are extremely simple, and readily adjusted to vary their lifting power. It requires no skill to keep them in order, or put in new working parts, when that comes to be necessary. Considering that the waste driving water from the Rams flows into a lower service reservoir, a very cheap system of supplying the high-level district is thus utilised. The work done by you is of a high class, and very creditable to you.

From T. FERNYHOUGH, Esq., Agent to the RIGHT HON LORD HINDLIP, Bradley, Ashbourne, Derby, March 17th, 1894.

DEAR SIR,—Referring to the two Patent "B" Rams you started six months ago for the Right Hon. Lord Hindlip, on the Alsop-en-le-Dale Estate, I am glad to congratulate you on the success of your attempt to raise the necessary supply of water under conditions so difficult, the height to raise the water being more than 63 times that of the working fall. The Rams are worked by water from the River Dove, with the small working fall of 8ft. 3ins., and issuing from the rocky bank close by is a copious stream of pure spring water, 8,000 gallons per day, of which the Rams force to a reservoir three-quarters of a mile distant, and at the extraordinary height of 523ft. above the Rams. The water is then gravitated from the reservoir to the several farms and houses on the estate, giving an ample supply to each, and still leaving a good overflow at the reservoir.

I am glad to add that the Rams lift more water than you promised, and seem to work with great ease and smoothness, notwithstanding the great elevation they force to.—Yours faithfully, T. FERNYHOUGH.

From the RIGHT Hon. THE EARL OF HARROWBY, 44, Grosvenor Square, London, Feb. 21st, 1893.

SIR,—I have pleasure in stating that the two Hydraulic Rams which you supplied and fixed for me last autumn at Sandon, have proved so far most successful, and that the work gives every promise of durability, while the economy, compared with the former much smaller and intermittent supply by steam-pump, will be considerable.

With a fall of about 14ft. from a previously-existing mill-pool, the Rams supply reservoirs 168ft. above the brook whence the water is forced, through pipes 1¼ miles in length. They send up, as long as I required it, about 41,000 gallons per day I now generally work the two Rams alternately (for a fortnight or so each), but can at any time work the two together, if the full supply of 41,000 gallons should be needed.

The business of this somewhat complicated water-supply was conducted by you with singular promptness and punctuality; and no local difficulties arose in the execution of the work, owing to the excellent and efficient men whom you sent from your works at Accrington.—I am, Sir, your very obedient Servant, HARROWBY.
